

Announcements for June 15, 2025

Happy Father's Day to all! Following service today, we will celebrate Father's Day with a catered tea reception. All are welcome to attend in fellowship.

We are seeking volunteers to help with the audiovisual meditation services at our Center. This is for AV mixing and setup for Saturdays and Sundays. Prior experience is not needed. If you have the desire to learn and serve, Anand Balanchandran will be teaching anyone interested following the Sunday Service for the next several weeks.

Please note that Saturday meditation is cancelled for June 21. During the week of Convocation from June 22-28, there will be a separate schedule of events at our Center, which you will find on our website and on printed schedules available in the Social Room. Please note that the usual meditations and services are being replaced on certain days by class broadcasts from Convocation.

The Reading Service for today is: God's Nature in the Father
